Continue Probe In Plant Blast Fatal To Three

Investigation Into Explosion At Plant Near Edenburg Is In Progress

LITTLE IS FOUND TO REVEAL CAUSE

Guard Around Plant And No Stranger Is Being Granted Admittance

Although little more is known today than was ascertained yesterday, following the blast fatal to three, at the Burton plant of the American Cyanamid and Chemical Corps., investigation into the circumstances surrounding the explosion is being continued today through several different channels.

Because of the fact that three different explosions occurred at widely seperated points in the Eastern Industrial section of the country the Federal Bureau of Investigation is investigating these explosions, and G-Men are probing the blasts, it was announced from Washington today.

All Old Employes

Plant authorities are still unable to conceive that sabotage had taken place at the local plant. It was pointed out by Superintendent Paul Forcey that no new men have been hired at the plant here for several years, all the employes being old and entrusted men.

Only 1080 pounds of dynamite were destroyed by the blast and the actual property damage inflicted was small, so that saboteurs could not have hoped to have caused much interference in national defense plans by the blast here.

Guard Around Plant

Immediately following the explosion yesterday, a tight guard was thrown about the plant, and no one was admitted unless he had official business there. Sightseers were also kept at a distance by plant guards, and those who went to the scene hoping to get a glimpse of the damage were disappointed as the scene is not visible from roads which pass the plant.

Coroner T. F. Nugent stated today that he expects to continue his investigation, and will probably conduct an inquest to seek to determine the cause of the blast.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Sort of a miniature display of the northern lights was to be seen across the northern horizon last night, Pa Newc was informed.

New Castle and Lawrence County apparently have been exceedingly fortunate or favored during the past few days, in escaping the terrific November storms that have been raging in the great lakes area, and in the midwest. While a little of the wind was experienced here, for the most part there was no semblance of the terrific storms that have been experienced in other areas not far removed.

The cold snap which followed the warm weather of Monday was identical to weather conditions on the same date a year ago, a review of weather conditions reveal. The temperature showed an even greater drop, however, falling from a maximum of 70 degrees to a minimum of 31 degrees in 24 hours. It dropped from a high of 68 degrees Monday evening to 36 degrees Tuesday.

Daily Weather Report

United States weather statistics for the 24 hour period ending at 5 p. m. Tuesday, are as follow:

Maximum temperature, 68.
Minimum temperature, 36.
Precipitation, .02 inches.
River stage, 5.1 feet.

Statistics for the same date a year ago, follow:

Maximum temperature, 50.
Minimum temperature, 24.
No precipitation.

The strong winds which swept most of the midwest knocked down this radio tower in Gary, Ind. Oddly enough, the call letters of the radio station is WIND.

Large Loss Of Life In Great Lakes Area Due To Raging Storms

(International News Service)

One of the most severe November storms of this century, which for three days has spread a path of death and destruction over most of northern United States, today was reaching to the Atlantic seaboard leaving in its wake millions of dollars in crop and property damage and upwards of 100 persons dead.

Greatest loss of life was feared to have been taken on the Great Lakes, swept by the most severe gales in 30 years, where 22 seamen were known to have been drowned and the lives of at least 60 others were despaired for. Two large freighters were believed to have gone to the bottom of Lake Michigan. These were the 7200-ton Freighter William B. Davock, and the 4139-ton Anna Minch.

Seventeen Recovered

Seventeen bodies washed ashore and recovered by the coastguard between Ludington and Pentwater, Mich., were thought to be from the Davock. Some of the bodies wore Davock life preservers. Aboard the vessel were Capt. C. W. Allan of Detroit and a crew of 322.

Pieces of wreckage and life preservers from the Anna Minch were found on the shore near Pentwater, leading to belief the ship had been wrecked and its crew of 20 lost. Five bodies washed ashore near Bass Lake, three miles north of Pentwater, were believed from the Minch.

In addition, the 250-foot pulpwood

Canton Refinery Has Tank Blaze

Tank Containing 80,000 Gallons Of Oil Goes Up In Smoke; No One Injured

(International News Service)

CANTON, O., Nov. 13—Overheated oil was blamed today by firemen for an explosion and fire which destroyed an 80 000 gallon tank of the Canton Refining Co.

Firemen were unable to estimate damage. They said that oil was being run through the tank, but had not entered a condenser which cools it before it mixes with the other oil.

The explosion tore off the top of the tank and started a raging fire which was not extinguished until 3:30 a. m.

Although 15 employes were at the plant at the time of the blast a check of hospitals revealed no one had been injured.

Probe Powder Plant Blasts For Possible Traces Of Sabotage

(International News Service)

Federal, state and local agents today studied the scattered wreckage of three violent powder plant explosions in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, attempting to determine whether the blasts which took 14 lives and left more than a score injured resulted from a sabotage plot against America's defense efforts or were linked merely by coincidence.

While charges of sabotage were sifted by the investigators, Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R) of New Jersey, laid responsibility on the door of the federal government. Too long, he charged, has it "coddled" subversive elements and delayed in adopting a "hard-boiled" attitude towards potential saboteurs. The Dies committee, Thomas said, has long warned the country that large numbers of aliens were working in defense plants.

Near Same Hour

Yesterday's blasts occurred within an hour of each other in the morning and ironically enough exactly two months to the day after the Hercules Powder plant blast which killed 51 at Kenvil, N. J.

Italians Launch Counter-Attack

Seek To Break Stranglehold Of Greeks On Koritsa Is Belief

MORE ITALIANS ARE TAKEN PRISONERS

By A. E. ANGELOPOULOS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ATHENS, Nov. 13.—Italian forces, supported by artillery and bombing planes, have launched a heavy new attack against Greek troops surrounding the southern Albanian town of Koritza, strategic Italian military base, it was reported in Athens today.

Latest advices received here said that the Fascist forces were engaged in a desperate counter-drive designed to break the near stranglehold that the Greeks have obtained on Koritza.

While results of this new fight were not yet known, other reports said the Greeks had consolidated their positions on the left and center fronts, and that earlier Italian attacks on the Macedonian front had been repulsed.

In addition, it was stated, Greek planes again bombed the Albanian port of Valona, sinking three Italian cargo ships.

Violent Air Duel Over Channel Today

Southeast Coast Town Bombed By Germans; R.A.F. Finally Chase Invaders

(International News Service)

DOVER, Eng., Nov. 13.—A violent air battle between British Hurricanes and German Messerschmitts took place over a southeast coastal town today.

The clash followed a savage dive-bombing attack by a squadron of Nazi bombers.

The raiders pressed home their attack despite terrific anti-aircraft fire, swooping down in procession to drop their death-dealing cargoes.

Hurricane fighters racing in to intercept the attackers caught the last batch as they were climbing up after the attack.

Machine-gun fire filled the air and a terrific battle ensued as German reinforcements arrived. The planes dipped and circled over mid-channel as the R.A.F. craft swept low over the cliffs to cut off the Germans from the French coast.

Poisoning Case Proves Puzzle

Pittsburgh Authorities Continue Probe Of Death Of 12 Men

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13.—City authorities were puzzled today in their investigation of the Salvation Army home "poison pancake" tragedy by chemists' reports that traces of roach powder which killed 12 men Monday could not be found in the home's kitchen.

Chemists discovered large quantities of sodium fluoride, the deadly poison, in pancakes left over from the fatal breakfast and in unused pancake batter. They said they failed to find any of it, however, in the flour or the baking powder cans at the home. Forty-seven men were made ill by the food that killed the others.

Another analysis of flour in the bottom of the flour can was planned. Absence of traces of the poison in kitchen containers raised the ROME, Nov. 13.—Difficulties confronting Italy in naval warfare with Great Britain were stressed today by Virginio Gayda, Italian editor whose columns reflect the views of Premier Mussolini.

"Italy's task is a difficult one in view of the enormous British forces in the Mediterranean."

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—F. B. I chiefs today ordered G-Men to put on all possible speed for completion of plant surveys designed to increase protection against sabotage for all manufacturing firms with government contracts.

Bureau officials said that this work was already well underway but that in view of the upheavals that occurred in powder plants and other, vital manufacturing plants yesterday every effort would be made to put on more speed.

At the same time, it was learned,

Boy Is Killed In Auto Crash

Fatal Accident On Mercer-Greenville Road About 10:30 This Morning

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Nov. 13.—Rodney Cooper, aged five years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard J. Cooper of Slippery Rock, R. D. 4, met death instantly in an auto accident which occurred this morning about 10:30 o'clock, on the Mercer-Greenville road.

The youngster was riding in the family car, which was being driven north toward Greenville by his mother, Mrs. Lottie Belle Cooper, age 40 years. Mrs. Cooper lost control of the car, while trying to pass a truck owned and driven by Glenn Beagle, of Linesville, O. The impact of the crash caused Rodney's head to strike the door window, breaking the glass. He died instantly, his head being crushed. Pauline Cooper, aged one year, another child, was also in the car, but escaped with bruises.

The body was taken to the Miller funeral home at Mercer. State motor policeman, J. T. Platt, was in charge of the investigation.

Cold Weather To Remain Few Days

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13.—Winter's first real cold snap hit Pennsylvania today with a quick sting as the tail of a weather whip that cracked across other portions of the nation with grim results.

Temperatures in the state tumbled swiftly as the mid-west gale swung eastward across the Great Lakes, pounding Erie and vicinity with 56-mile-an-hour winds yesterday.

Early today unofficial mercury readings in Pittsburgh were at 35 degrees No snow fell in the area, however.

The cold wave was expected to last for several days, according to weather observers.

Britain's Mighty Liner Somewhere At Sea On Trip

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13—Great Britain's mighty liner Queen Elizabeth, transformed by the necessities of war into a camouflaged troopship, was "somewhere out to sea" today on a secret mission.

Hours after her departure, the rumors today were that she was bound for either Trinidad, the British West Indies, Halifax or possibly even Boston. Somewhere on her voyage she will be equipped with anti-aircraft and anti-submarine guns. And her decks, intended for the most luxurious of trans-Atlantic travel, will be equipped with quarters for 15,000 troops—probably soldiers from Australia and New Zealand.

Giant British Liner Joins War

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The British liner Queen Elizabeth pushed her 85,000-ton bulk through thrashing, wind-swept seas off the North Atlantic coast last night, headed for an unannuonced destination and active duty in the war. A police boat and two Coast Guard vessels escorted the grey-painted vessel until she was out of sight in the rain and fog of the lower bay. Britain's loss of ships apparently made it necessary to risk her in active duty, probably as a troop transport like the Queen Mary. British officials declined to indicate where the Elizabeth would make her first call.

Tentative Program For Improving Highways In County Is Given

Major improvements in the highway system of Lawrence County, possible in the next five years, were outlined Tuesday night before the governors of the New Castle Motor club when W. S. Stephens, maintenance engineer, and G. C. Davis, assistant plans engineer of the state highway department spoke in The Castleton Hotel.

"The highway department is preparing a five year plan," said Mr. Stephens. "In this plan will be included the improvements that appear necessary and desirable. While the adoption of the plan will not guarantee all the improvements listed, the department hopes to accomplish most of it. The accomplishment will depend of course upon the financial status of the commonwealth."

Improve No. 422

The list is now in the making and will not be adopted for some time. At the present time a number of needed improvements for this county are listed. Among these are the reconstruction of Route 422, widening it and in some cases relocating it.

The dangerous crossing at Harlansburg on Route 108 is scheduled for elimination, also the grade crossing at Montgomery avenue and West Pittsburg. The by-pass from the New Wilmington Road south of New Wilmington to the intersection where the New Wilmington Road

FATE OF FIVE BRITISH SHIPS IS UNKNOWN

Part Of Convoy Attacked By German Battleship In Mid-Atlantic

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The fate of five British merchant vessels known to have eluded a German pocket battleship in mid-Atlantic last Tuesday, was unknown today although naval authorities held the opinion the ships were somewhere on the high seas en route to British ports.

Twenty-four other British merchantmen, part of a 38-ship convoy that was attacked by the Nazi warship, arrived in British harbors yesterday and reported that nine of their number probably were sunk by the long-range guns of the sea raider.

According to the admiralty the convoy was able to escape the superior guns of one of the fastest and most powerful units of the German navy—believed to be the 10,000-ton pocket battleship Admiral Scheer of Luetzow—when the 14,164-ton armed British merchant cruiser Jervis Bay battled the warship.

Major Victory Is Reported For British Planes

CHURCHILL TELLS HOUSE OF VICTORY

Italian Naval Power Is Now Badly Crippled Says Prime Minister

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A major victory for British naval planes over important units of the Italian fleet at Taranto which "affects decisively the balance of naval power in the Mediterranean" was described to the house of commons by Prime Minister Winston Churchill this afternoon.

Confirming an admiralty announcement that at least six and possibly seven Italian warships were severely damaged in an attack by planes of the fleet air arm upon the Taranto naval base, Churchill said:

"I have some news for the house. It is good news.

"The result of action by the fleet air arm against the Italian fleet at Taranto affects decisively the balance of naval power in the Mediterranean."

Wild Cheering

"The royal navy has struck a crippling blow to the Italian fleet.

"Total strength of the Italian battle fleet was six battleships.

"These consisted of two of the Littoria class which had just been put into service and were among the world's most powerful. Four were of the recently reconstructed Cavour class.

"This fleet on paper was considerably more powerful than our Mediterranean fleet, but had consistently refused to accept battle.

Bucharest Again Rocked By Quakes

Ninth Quake Since Sunday Causes New Terror In Rumanian Capital

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BUCHAREST, Nov. 13.—Two new earth shocks rocked Bucharest during the darkness of the night bringing new terror in the wake of Rumania's most devastating earthquake in more than a century.

The two temblors, both of strong intensity, followed in quick succession and marked the ninth earth upheaval since the first disastrous shock on Sunday.

With the first deep rumblings thousands rushed wildly into the streets and parks in order to get clear of the damaged and cracked buildings.

Police soon restored order when it was learned that the damage from the new quakes was only slight.

With thousands homeless in devastated Rumania, the new shocks came as government officials dispatched food, tents, and building materials to the wrecked villages and towns in the stricken areas.

Blast Shatters Arm Of Hunter

Henning R. Nelson, Of Lorain Avenue, Badly Injured On Tuesday Afternoon

Henning R Nelson, aged about 50 years, of 905 Lorain avenue, suffered amputation of the left arm just above the elbow as the result of a hunting accident which occurred between Willow Grove and Wampum, Tuesday afternoon about 12 50 o'clock.

Nelson, in company with Albert H Briggs, of 2216 Hartman street, and Clarence W Richardson, of 402 Vine street, all of whom are employed on the WPA had gone hunting after working Tuesday morning. They were in a field off the Wampum road, when a rabbit started across the field. Richardson stated that he threw up his gun to fire at the rabbit, and just as he did so, Nelson swung around to also fire at the rabbit, the charge from [illegible]sen's shotgun striking him in the arm.

A doctor was summoned from Wampum, who realized he had been seriously injured, and he was taken to the hospital, where it was found that amputation was necessary.

Johnstown And Altoona Football Riot To Be Probed

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 13—Officials of the P. I. A. A. today summoned Altoona and Johnstown high schol authorities to a meeting tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Johnstown as an aftermath of a dispute that nearly led to a riot at last Saturday's game between the two football teams.

The meeting called by district six chairman Ira C Gross will be held at the Johnstown Y M C A It follows a similar affair held this afternoon by the western Pennsylvania interscholastic athletic league of which Johnstown is a member.

Edmund C Wicht, executive secretary of the P I A A who will attend the investigation solely as an observer, said he understood spectators rushed out on the field during the game, when, with Altoona attempting a try for point after touchdown, a Johnstown boy booted the ball off the gridiron.

It's hardly more than a week ago, or so it seems like to me, when the football heroes were trotted out for all of fandom to see. And here it is almost over again, and the last game ready to go, well tempts tugits in football time and its tugiting isn't slow. I'd like to see football from Labor Day on, till the Christmas tree is alight, say two afternoons in a week would do, with maybe a tussle at night. But the football molesons are ready to go to the storeroom and that's a gale, and now we'll look at some basketball, the weather is forty-eight.

Nazis Continue Raids On London

Night Raids Are Decreased

British Fliers Continue Attacks Upon Oil Depots In Germany

MOVIE THEATRE STRUCK BY BOMB

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A new daylight air raid alarm, London's 332nd since the war began, screamed in the British capital today as Nazi raiders once again launched an attack on the city.

There were no immediate developments in the London region, where workers were still clearing away the debris left by last night's Nazi attacks.

Meanwhile, it was learned that R. A. F. bombers during the night attacked oil depots in Germany, marshalling yards and "invasion ports" along the French channel coast, including the submarine base at German-occupied Lorient.

Scores Of Flares

The German night raid on London and other sections of Britain opened strongly as the Nazi planes approached the capital from all directions at the rate of at least one a minute.

A heavy barrage shook the ground and scores of flares were dropped. After midnight the attacks decreased in intensity and began to resemble the "nuisance raids" of the earlier part of the war.

During the early part of the evening a series of bombs fell on a London motion picture house, killing several members of the audience and injuring others. Usherettes tore up clothing to bandage the wounded.

In another theatre 1,000 patrons ducked under their seats as they heard the whistle of a large bomb which exploded nearby.

and the Pulaski road meet is on the list. Route 18 from Walmo north is also listed for improvement.

Atlantic avenue is to be resurfaced, some resurfacing in the boro of Wampum and New Wilmington, 2 new bridges in West Pittsburg. There are other improvements to be added to the five year plan but the ones outlined above are considered of importance just now. The listing of them does not commit the state to their consummation, Mr. Stephens said, but it is a step towards the day when they will be done.

WPA-Highway

A list of improvements to be made by the WPA-highway forces is also being prepared.

In this list are included such improvements as the surfacing of Pennsylvania avenue, the road from Princeton to a road near Center church, the Harbor road, road near Walkers Mills, and a number of others.

G. C. Davis followed Mr. Stephens but added little to the remarks of Mr. Stephens except to emphasize that the proposed five year plan was as yet in the tentative stage.

In the absence of President Alec Samuels, Charles Morrow presided at the dinner meeting of the motor club. Secretary Bernard N. Hanlon reported upon club activities.

Other guests aside from the state engineers were Highway Superintendent Edwin O. Reed and County Commissioner William R. Walton.

PROBE POWDER PLANT BLASTS FOR POSSIBLE TRACES OF SABOTAGE

eight persons including six women and injured 23 at the United Railway Signal Company plant at Woodbridge, N. J. Three men were killed at the Trojan Powder Company at Allentown, Pa., a plant holding army and navy contracts, and three more men were killed at the Burton Powder Works of the American Cyanamid Corporation at Edenburg, near New Castle, Pa.

The explosions followed by only a few hours a $1,000,000 fire at Atlanta, Ga., in which much National Guard equipment was destroyed; a small fire at the Todd Dry Docks in Seattle where charges were made of attempts to sabotage important machinery, and a fatal accident at South San Francisco where a giant crane collapsed killing two workmen.

Thorough Probe

Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, attending a border regulations conference in Ottawa, promised a thorough investigation by the U. S. Department of Justice.

Army and navy agents, G-men, state police and municipal police were joined in the widespread investigations.

Damage in the Woodbridge, N. J., explosion was estimated at $100,000. The concussion was felt many miles away. Numerous persons in nearby houses were hurled to the ground by the shock, scores of nearby windows were smashed.

The Woodbridge plant had no defense contracts and was manufacturing signal torpedoes for railroads but it was reported without confirmation that a device of possible use to the army and navy was being experimented upon.

Hugh W. Kelly, owner of the Signal company, said it was impossible for the torpedoes to explode under normal circumstances. He said there was a possibility saboteurs had the mistaken idea that the plant was working on government contracts.

"We captured several Italian prisoners in the Pindus sector," the communique stated.

"War materials falling into our hands have been continually augmented. These include .75 guns and many trench mortars, machine guns and other supplies.

"Villages which our army reoccupied have been found completely devastated. One company of Albanians voluntarily surrendered to our troops.

"Enemy aviation bombed some Greek villages, wounding some of the residents."

The entire Greek press published warnings to Italy that unless Fascist air attacks on the Greek civilian population cease within one day, Greek and British planes will carry out reprisal attacks against the Italian population.

Mertz agreed willingly to return to Pittsburgh for questioning, saying he had "nothing to be afraid of".

City Health Director I. Park Alexander meantime ordered a checkup on all restaurants and institutions in the city to make certain that roach powder is not kept in kitchen supply cupboards.

Draft Boards To Certify Men

Receive Orders To Supply Two Men From Each Board For Induction November 27

QUESTIONNAIRES HAVE BEEN SENT

Each of the four local draft boards in Lawrence county have received their orders to furnish two men each for induction into the service on November 27, it was stated today by Chairman J. Elder Bryan, of Local Board No. 2, and questionnaires have been mailed from the office of his board to 20 men, from whom the two will be selected.

Sixteen volunteers have been sent their questionnaires and in addition, the first four men on the list in order of their numbers have been included, so that it is likely that from this number, it will not be hard to furnish the two men needed.

Work of assigning order numbers to the men listed by Local Board No. 2, has been completed and the numbers are now being transferred to the cards in the filing system.

Mailing a questionnaire by the local board to the registrant is notice that the process of classification and selection with regard to that registrant has begun. Each day, the local board is expected to post at its office a notice of the order numbers of the registrants to whom questionnaires have been mailed that day, it is stated.

The men to be sent from Local Board No. 2, will be taken in the order that they have volunteered, and if they fit into Classification A, that is having no dependents and being eligible by their occupation, they will be examined to see if they can qualify physically. The men from New Castle accepted will then be sent to the Induction Station for the Western Pennsylvania section, comprising 17 counties at Pittsburgh.

The men from Local Board No. 2, in the order of their volunteering, together with the first four men on the order list, are as follows;

Homer L. Langford, Augustus F. White, Theodore A. Lelenko, Mike A. Bober, Daniel Mastropietro (minor), Andy Hudak, John Lombardo, Fred Iovanella, Joseph J. Ludwicak, Edward A. Wheale, Norman F. Strobel, Walter J. Boron, Patsy B. Sheldon, John M. Ball, Joseph A. McIltrot, Philip P. Kresowaty, volunteers; and Victor C. Kennedy, No. 158; Donald H. McClurg, No. 192; Guiseppe Fortuna, No. 105; and Theodore J. Janowski, No. 2441.

MAJOR VICTORY IS REPORTED FOR BRITISH PLANES

when the main units of the Italian fleet were lying behind shore batteries at the naval base of Taranto, our aircraft of the fleet air arm attacked their stronghold.

"Reports from our airmen have been confirmed by photographic reconnaissance.

Damage Reported

"It is now established that one battleship of the Littoria class is now so badly down by the bows that her forecastle is under water.

"She has a heavy list to starboard.

"One battleship of the Cavour class has been beached and her stern, up to and inculding the after turret, is under water.

"This ship has also heavily listed to starboard. It is not yet established as a certainty, but it appears probable that a second battleship of the Cavour class has been severely damaged and beached.

"In the inner harbor of Taranto, two Italian cruisers have listed to starboard, surrounded by oil fuel. Two fleet auxiliaries are lying with their sterns under water.

"Only two of our aircraft are missing despite the Italian claims."

Churchill was cheered so lustily that he had to pause between each sentence.

Churchill detailed almost word for word an earlier communique issued by the admiralty. Then he added:

"I felt it my duty to bring this glorious episode to the immediate notice of the house.

Only Three Italian Ships Active

"As a result of this determined and highly successful attack which reflects the greatest honor upon the fleet air arm, only three Italian battleships now remain effective.

"This result, while it affects decisively the balance of naval power in the Mediterranean, also carries with it reactions on the entire naval situation in every quarter of the globe.

"I feel sure that the house will regard the results as highly satisfactory, reflecting the greatest credit upon Admiral Cunningham (not further identified) and above all upon the pilots of our fleet air arm, who like their brothers in the R. A. F. continue to render the country services of the highest order."

Official Claims

The admiralty announcement said that one Italian battleship of the Conte Dicavour class—a 25,000-ton ship with a complement of nearly 2,000 men, was seriously damaged and that a second ship of the same class appeared to have met a similar fate.

In addition, the British statement said, a battleship of the 35,000-ton Littorio class was hit and damaged so severely that her forecastle is under water.

Two Italian cruisers were left listing to starboard as a result of the British attack, the admiralty said, and two Italian fleet auxiliary vessels were left lying with their sterns under water.

(The Italian base at Taranto, where the attack was carried out, is situated at the head of the gulf of Taranto between the heel and toe of the Italian "boot".)

Another Attack

Late this evening, the admiralty announced another attack on Italian shipping.

The communique said:

"A British squadron of light forces intercepted four enemy supply ships escorted by two destroyers in the Straits of Otranto (between Italy and Albania) on the night of Nov. 11-12.

"We think that one supply ship was destroyed by fire. Two others were seriously damaged and almost certainly sunk. The fourth was damaged but escaped.

"Both escorting destroyers escaped at high speed under cover of smoke, but one was hit and damaged. There was no damage and no casualties among the British forces."

field agents were advising manufacturers to notify authorities in the event of any plant "accident." Bureau officials pointed out that under present conditions it was important not only to determine the facts in sabotage but also to establish when they were the result of pure accident. Exerts in the F. B. I. will carefully study every accident report sumbitted in the current campaign to increase vigilance against sabotage.

Bureau chiefs said that American manufacturers had given wholehearted cooperation to F. B. I. agents making suggestions for changes or plant improvements designed to block sabotage efforts. They said that the F. B. I. plant surveys were being conducted in every plant which the national defense commission has certified to the F. B. I. as turning out defense products.

Hartnett, one of baseball's most colorful figures and for years a leading National League catcher, took over the Cubs in midseason of 1938 and led them to a pennant.

In 1939 and 1940 however, his club lacked the drive that had gained it the top rung in 1938 and there was dissatisfaction among the fans, followed by a drop in gate receipts.

MAY GET SOMEWHERE

IT is possible that the United States and South America will get somewhere in their trade relations if they continue along lines that they have been pursuing in recent months. This nation and the Latin countries have been trading missions composed of economic experts.

Those from the United States are in Latin America to see what can be done to stimulate production of things which the United States lacks. Latin American missions are in the United States studying markets for those products.

Thus, instead of South America trying to ship more wheat and cattle to the United States, there is a prospect that it may alter its productive system to more approximate United States needs.

Encouragement is being given to the planting of disease-resistant rubber trees, and to the production of more manganese, antimony, chromium, mercury, manila fibre, mica, beryllium and titanium. This country's principal needs, now being filled in the Far East, are manila fibre, rubber, tin, quinine and jute. South America can produce all of these.

The United States is going to lend tens of millions of dollars to the Latin countries. These loans will be a blessing if they get this country something down Brazil and Argentine way besides more of what it already has.

NATURE'S BLOW AT HITLER'S OIL

The Rumanian earthquake means new sorrows and hardships for a people already beset by political turmoil. Not only the sympathy but the practical help of other nations should be made available to the Rumanians in their terror and desolation.

It remains to be seen whether the temblor struck a real blow at the machinations of the dictators who, by threats and pleas, had bent Rumania, rich in oil and other natural resources, to their will.

The oil fields counted upon by Hitler for the operation of his war machine apparently were badly damaged by the quake. Fires were started and bursting gasoline tanks spread destruction in wide areas.

Hitler went to a great deal of trouble to gain the domination of Rumania and its oil without blasting the country into submission. If the oil supplies so coveted by him have been destroyed or, for a time at least, made unobtainable, an element of something like Providential justice has mysteriously entered European war calculations.

RUSSIAN EMBASSY'S PARTY

A year ago at this time the Russian embassy at Washington gave a reception to celebrate the twenty-second anniversary of the 1917 revolution. Nobody of any importance showed up. Only a few Russophiles went, and the representatives of those countries which had something to fear from Russia; Ambassador Procope of Finland among them.

It was too near to the Hitler-Stalin pact, the City of Flint incident and Molotov's denouncement of Roosevelt as a "meddler." The party, staged in a setting which surpassed the czarist era in Slavic splendor, was a flop.

This year it was different. At the Russian embassy's party three days after the election were most of the prominent diplomatic figures of Washington, 900 in all. That made the party more than a party—it became an index of an important trend in foreign policy.

Since Russian is the greatest enigmatic "neutral" in Europe, and since her neighbors the Balkans are at the moment aroused to explosive heat, not knowing whether the next act of aggression will come from Hitler or Stalin, there seems to be another frantic effort to woo the reds.

At any rate, the party was as great a success as those staged in the Russian embassy shortly after this nation extended diplomatic recognition to the bolsheviks in 1933, when everybody went to eat imported fish eggs and to drink vodka and to be seen in de trop or pinkish company.

ART TO WASHINGTON

It is probable that the era of great private art collections is past. The accumulation and bequeathing of enormous fortunes on the part of financiers, industrialists and other entrepreneurs will henceforth be difficult in a world where taxes, death duties and social controls are a permanent commonplace of existence. Furthermore, the amount of great classic art is limited, and most masterpieces of first rank are in permanent official or private possession.

Now and then, as taxation forces noble English families to liquidate their estates, whether of castles, land or artistic inheritance, or when Soviet Russia decides to sell some imperial art treasure, a painting of prime importance becomes available. For the most part, even were there no war, such opportunities for purchase would be infrequent.

One of the greatest of private American collections, that of Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia, is now to go to the National Gallery of Art in Washington. This is the gallery, now under construction, that A. W. Mellon of Pittsburgh, Mr. Widener's close friend and fellow art enthusiast, gave to the nation to house the gift of his own magnificent art collection. There are some splendid paintings in the National Museum, and also in the Corcoran Art Gallery, where the varied, but in some respects notable, Clark collection is on permanent exhibit. The Freer Gallery has its superb Whistlers.

Thus, more and more, great paintings and other artistic works are being concentrated in the national capital. The impulse for this concentration is understandable and even laudable, but it is doubtful whether it contributes to general cultural development and appreciation of art. Washington is a tourist center, but the local encouragement, cultivation and practice of art is negligible. No fortune was ever made there with which to purchase a private art collection,

Mr. Mellon's fortune was made in Pittsburgh, as Mr. Widener's was made in Philadelphia, and as Mr. Freer's was made in Detroit. Labor, business, banking, the social opportunities and economic changes that made these fortunes possible were contributed and transacted in great cities and communities far from Washington, which itself produces nothing except government. Yet from these communities where fortunes were made or centered, artistic resources are being removed to the banks of the Potomac, there to enlarge the grandeur of the nation's national capital.

Italians claim they staged a bombing raid flight of 2,000 miles. Mussolini may have to fly farther than that one of these days.

LOOKING INTO GAY HOME

In spite of the home and family tragedies you and I learn about and witness all too often, and the distressing accounts I must read in many letters from those who follow this column daily, I am sure there are many happy homes and families. As time goes on I receive more and more letters telling me specifically of successful parenthood and wholesale family relationships. Furthermore, it has been my pleasure to sit as guest in many happy family circles.

Now I want to tell you of a certain family I have observed over several years. They live on a farm in a strictly rural community, near where my family and I usually spend our summers.

Family Circle

The parents are in their early forties, I should judge. They have fine, wonderful children, ranging from about fifteen to two, with a break of several years between the baby and the next child. All the older children are very found of the baby, and vie with one another for the privilege of looking after her and reading to her. All the children are bright and alert and exceedingly well brought up. All the four now in school get on well there; most excel.

The eldest child is the only boy. He is growing to be a helpful and successful farmer, very apt and deeply interested in mechanics.

The older girls have learned to take responsibilities about the home. On any day one can drop in this home and see each one performing some home responsibility like an adult.

Cheerful Mother

The cheerful and attractive mother is so calm, efficient and so skilfull in guiding those girls that she seems never to boss at all. She leads them. The father is also a poised, level-headed and good natured soul. Both parents are well educated and surely possess high native intelligence. Neither parent seems ever to grow ruffled or to nag. The whole family seems to have good times together, though their large farm and dairy mean long days and hard work. Wisely, the father and mother have gradually added modern conveniences, their house being connected with electric current.

Having dropped in on this family often while at leisure, or at work, I have never caught them in an atmosphere of strain or irritation. The secret, I think, is in the calm self-control and poise of those parents.

Super-Grandparents

At one end of the large house the paternal grandparents live, two more grand, calm, cheerful souls. They mind their own business, and never interfere with the upbringing of those children. The presence of these unusual grandparents, contribute security and stability to the growing family. Some grandparents can, you know. While, as a rule, I advise against the presence of grandparents among growing children, this is a notable exception and good evidence of how grandeur of character, wisdom and understanding can win. I like to dream of all America, with a family like this.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

OUR SLANG

In a letter to an American magazine, an English girl asserts that America's greatest contribution to Britain's defense has been the expression, "So what?" The British lacked a pungent phrase to encompass all the contempt and defiance they burn to express when one of Hitler's bombers makes a shambles of a London block. In like vein, the English of all classes have adopted the American "We can take it!" When the Germans boasted that they were shelling London from a range of ninety-nine miles, an exasperated British official denounced the claim as, "Hooey"!

The prize employment of U. S. slang to date, however, solved the problem of getting past the Nazi censors that food in Nazi prison camps is bad, and that the guards are brutal and ignorant. An English prisoner of war wrote home as follows: "We get the best food I've ever eaten. The camp guards are all extremely decent and intelligent. Tell my friends how well I am treated. Tell my pals in the army. Tell them in the navy. Above all tell it to the marines." The Nazi censors did not delete a word! And the tonic of a grin must have spread throughout harassed England.

Ordinarily, slang is to be discounted as loose and lazy speech. But if slang words are fighting words, these day, and our English cousins can make use of the expressive English variety—then more power to them and to England.

Suns sets tonight 4:44. Sun rises tomorrow 6:45.

About 10,000 cars go over the new dream highway every day now. It looks as if that road is going to pay for itself better and quicker than some other things have done. This shows that people appreciate grand things.

Why don't men like cats?

Taxes don't worry us as much as lack of income.

A man in Denver is charged with threatening President Roosevelt. In his room were found three rifles, several speeches of Hitler and many swastika flags. That bird sure was up to sumpin'.

TOO MUCH CROWD

There was a big revival meeting, and the preacher had worked things up to a high pitch.

"Stand up!" shouted the evangelist, "if you want to go to heaven!"

Everybody stood up but one old man.

"Don't you want to go to heaven, my brother?" shouted the preacher, loudly.

"Sho," said the old man, "but I ain't goin' with no excursion."

A pleasant time is usually had by all except the hostess.

Hi Hum says that once he was as pure as the driven snow, but now he is afraid he has drifted.

In the old days, when a man did a good job, you could hand him a five dollar gold piece, but now you have to write a check, deduct social insurance and report the gift to the U. S. government. It's like asking a girl friend for a receipt for your orchid.

PERFECTLY SIMPLE

Seaman Sam says: "A blush is a temporary arithma and a caloric effulgence of the physiognomy, ettigilized by the precipitation of the sesorum from a predicament of inequilibrium caused by sudden shame, anger, fear, humiliation or other emotions, resulting in a partial paresis of the vasomotorial muscular filamcnt of the facial, immediately become effused with radiance emanating an intermediated precordia."

The most lonesome person is the one alone in a crowd or the one who is married but has no comrade.

An angry woman, with a marriage license, called on license clerk and asked: "Did you or did you not issue this marriage license?"

"I issued it," said the clerk.

"Well, what are you going to do about it?" demanded the angry woman. "The man has escaped."

Recent progress in science has led to vast improvements, but we don't see that it's improved anybody's disposition.

It becomes more evident every day that Mr. Willkie is a very lucky man.

A wife paid a surprise visit to her husband's office. Creeping up behind him, she put her hands over his eyes.

"Guess who it is?" she asked, gleefully.

"Stop fooling," was the reply, "and get out those letters I just dictated."

A Hollywood actress wants a divorce from her husband because he is a loveless and unfaithful husband. Some of those actresses evidently still want to be loved at least part of the time.

And while we are telling marriage stories, we heard this old one again other day.

The new bridegroom gave the porter $1 on the train not to tell they were newlyweds. When passengers looked sharply, bridegroom called the porter and asked what he had told them.

"I told 'em you-all was just friends," said the porter.

A girl band in California will have a boy for it's drum major. Jealousy!

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

"To help me decide a bet on a point of etiquette tell me whether there are any exceptions to the 'ladies first' rule—socially speaking," asks Maude S.

There are several exceptions to that rule. The man goes ahead of the woman he escorts to the ticket-taker at a theater. When going up or down a lighted stairway, the woman precedes. But if the stairway is dark the man goes first. From a train, street car or automobile, the man alights first to assist the woman with him. When two couple attend the theater together, the man in the first couple enters the row of seats ahead of the woman in the second couple. When leaving the theater, the women precede the men down the aisle. When entering a public dining room where there is no waiter in evidence the man is justified in stepping in front to select the table and hold out the chair of the woman he is escorting. The woman enters all doors first, but the man steps ahead of her to hold them open.

At a dinner party the host enters the dining room first with the woman who is to sit at his right—the guest of honor. The hostess then enters with the male guest of honor. The other guests then follow in the order arranged by the hostess, each man escorting the woman who is to be his dinner partner.

Readers' Questions Answered

Question: My husband and I are to give a dinner dance. If any of our guests do not dance, should my husband and I refrain from dancing all evening and sit with them?—Mrs. H.

Answer: Of course, if there is only one non-dancer among your guests, either you or your husband should remain with him or her while the others are dancing. It would be decidedly rude for both of you to go off and leave this guest entirely alone. But if there are two or three non-dancers (who may entertain one another while every one else is away from the table) you and your husband may feel free to leave the table and dance every dance. But why invite to a dinner-dance any one who does not enjoy dancing? By so doing you are simply spoiling your own party for the one who should enjoy it most—yourself. Free yourself from the idea that it is your duty to invite to parties people who, because they are misfits, will bring misery to themselves as well as to all others present.

Lawyers were telling stories on each other, when one related this: "— — counsel for defense, was cross-examining the witness, a lovely blonde with big, blue eyes.

"Where were you on Monday night———thundered?"

The blonde smiled sweetly. "Out for a run in a car."

"Where were you on Tuesday night?"

"Out for a run in a car."

"——— leaned closer. 'What,' he said, 'are you doing tomorrow night?'"

"———, prosecuting counsel, leaped to his feet. 'Your honor,' he protested. 'I object to that question'."

"'Why do you object?' asked the court."

"Because I asked her first."

We have noticed that men delight in picking good looking women, while women seem to get a great kick out of choosing the homeliest creatures for mates.

Anyhow, the United States is still the only place where foreign nations can come to borrow money and send their gold and valuables for safekeeping.

We read of a man who dug only one potato from a hill and it weighed 3 pounds and 10 ounces. We have dug one potato from a hill and it was no bigger than a walnut, but no one said anything about it.

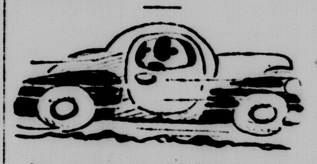
Given five years, we'll be armed to dominate the world; but Alas! by that time we can do it by offering a sandwich.



No census was needed to tell us families are smaller. Who ever sees a seven-passenger car now?

A man called at a office to see his grandson who was employed as office boy.

"I am the boy's grandfather and I wish to see if he can get off this afternoon and go with me to the baseball game," said the man.

"You just missed him on his way out," he said he was going to his grandfather's funeral," explained the office man.

Changes In Hatch Law Expected
Post-Election Complaints Filed
Expect Removals Will Be Sought

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13—Election being over, the civil service commission looks for an avalanche of complaints of violations, during the campaign, of the Hatch law, prohibiting political activity by government workers. A small class of individuals on the federal payroll hold obviously political jobs, of a policy-making character. The law doesn't apply to them. It does apply, however, to the vast bulk of the rank and file. They can vote, of course, but they can't do political missionary work—not without violating that law.

A peculiar feature of the situation is that very few complaints (less than 100, from all over the country) were received in Washington while the campaign was raging. Yet, during the same period, the capital simply was swamped with queries concerning fine points of the law, which is a new thing and not at all fully understood in detail.

The general conclusion is that party organizations were holding up outright accusations as post-election ammunition, in the event of their side's defeat at the polls, whichever way. It's taken for granted that now the howls will pour in from both camps. In localities which went Republican the yelps presumably will come from Democrats and vice versa. It isn't alone the presidential issue that's involved. Congressional fights are to be considered, too.

In short, more contests for congressional seats are predicted than ever before in American history. I mean contests to prevent the seating of nominal winners.

Removals To Be Sought

Efforts also seem certain to be made for the removal of shoals of civil servants, charged with pernicious campaign activities. Hitherto the civil service commission has not necessarily had to dismiss a convicted offender. It could reprimand him only. Under the Hatch law dismissal's the penalty.

There's another difference, though. Previously the commission had the last word. It could acquit or penalize as it saw fit. The Hatch law permits an appeal by the alleged culprit to the courts.

It may seem as if most of our civil servants should have been mainly pro-Roosevelt during the last campaign, since the New Deal's been on the job for hard onto eight years, during which a lot of them got their positions under its auspices.

Still, plenty of them are holdovers from earlier than 1932. Moreover, many recent appointees haven't sympathized with the New Deal. Living in Washington, where they're thicker than hops, I know dozens of them at least, and not a few of them were ardently pro-Willkie while the fight was on. They were pretty careful not to say so after the Hatch law enactment, but they'd divulge it in confidence.

I'm acquainted with one in particular, in quite an important post who whispered any amount of Willkie-McNary propaganda into my ear. He always took me into an especially dark corner to do it, but I'd guarantee that he did the same thing with all the other friends whom he thought he could trust. His position was such that he could spill a deal of anti-administration information, too.

Other Side, Too

And, of course, there were oodles of pro-administrationists engaged in the same thing.

I shan't peach on my friend, but there are others who doubtless will on theirs. All told, I'd gamble that they'll start a volume of investigations to keep all available commissions and committees and courts busy for some time to come.

The English system is a tighter one than ours.

In England a civil servant (a post office worker, for instance) hasn't even a vote. He's out of political life altogether. If he so much as peeps politics, he's canned. The Hatch law gravitates us somewhat in that direction, but it doesn't arrive so completely at its destination.

I don't quite like the idea of depriving a citizen of his franchise because he works for the government. Yet it does more or less simplify matters. A chap who hasn't a ballot of his own to cast isn't politically listened to much.

The English rule doesn't prevail in John Bull's dependencies.

The Twenty-Billion Jump

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13. IT is likely that Senator Byrd's opposition to the Administration plan made public through Mr. Morgenthau, immediately to lift the legal debt limit from $45,000,000,000 to $65,000,000,000, will be construed by the extremely articulate individuals, male and female, who are shouting "national unity" as recalcitrant, not to say unpatriotic.

REASONABLE people, however, will not agree. For one thing, it is not easy to conceive of Senator Byrd taking that, or any other stand, from a small, a personal or an unworthy motive. For another, it will seem to those capable of a detached view, a healthful thing to have someone in political life—and he a Democrat—unawed by the third-term victory and unafraid to stand up and dissent from a startling proposal which not only has not been debated but which was not even hinted at in the recent campaign.

FOR still another, Senator Byrd is in complete airord with the Administration's foreign policy, has voted in favor of every defense appropriation asked by the White House and is a consistent supporter of every proposal to strengthen our armed forces. These things certainly entitle Senator Byrd to speak on this subject without criticism. What he says is trenchant and to the point. It is true that in the past Senator Byrd's militant fight against the waste of public funds and his insistence upon curtailing governmental expenditures and eliminating useless Federal offices have earned him the enmity of the New Deal spenders and not endeared him to the President.

HOWEVER, the soundness of the Byrd criticisms is so obvious and the situation to which he points so critical that it does seem the President, in his hour of victory, might afford to forget his personal feeling against the Virginia Senator and not sweep aside his suggestions, as has been done in the past, merely because they come from him. Exactly that happened in 1937 with the Governmental Reorganization Plan. It happened with the Byrd resolution for a horizontal cut of ten per cent in all Government expenditures. It has happened with practically every Byrd proposal dealing with Government finances, upon which he is an acknowledged authority.

IT has happened so regularly that it has come to be taken for granted that anything that comes from Senator Byrd will be opposed by the White House, simply because it comes from Senator Byrd. That is an insufficient reason. In the past it has prevented some very badly needed steps from being taken. In the present very grave national situation it is appalling to think that this same pettiness is to continue and that, instead of acceptance of help from a man without ulterior motive and in a position to help strengthen the concededly weak structure upon which Federal credit rests, the mere presentation of an idea from him insures Administration rejection.

THE points made by Senator Byrd seem incontrovertible. He urges that instead of raising the debt limit $20,000,000,000, as proposed, it should

(International News Service)

LONDON, Nov. 13—A total of 6,334 civilians were killed and 8,695 injured badly enough to require hospital treatment in the United Kingdom during October as the result of air raids, Minister of Home Security Herbert Morrison announced Tuesday.

The casualties during October here were considerably less than during the previous month of September, when a total of 6,954 people were killed and 10,615 injured.

Meanwhile, the air ministry announced that enemey air raids on British Isles today were on an unusually small scale, apparently because of unfavorable flying conditions.

London experienced only two brief raids during the day. Bombs dropped in one London district caused a few casnalties but little damage.

A small number of single enemy aircraft sought to carry out hit-and-run raids along the southeast coast. One raider was shot down.

Moonlight is bright . . . . . outside!

But even the brilliance of the harvest moon gives only the dimmest of light inside the house. It takes radiant, living light to replace the light of day. ## The Great Game Of Politics be raised $5,000,000,000 now and later $5,000,000,000 more, if and when it is found necessary. But to jump the limit immediately $20,000,000,000 is an encouragement to reckless expenditure and calculated further to undermine the whole Federal financial structure. Moreover, Senator Byrd points out that the Government now is spending much more for activities not connected with defense than it takes in; that the great defense expenditures make it more necessary than before to curtail normal government costs and eliminate useless activities; that it is not possible to spend $20,000,000,000 for defense in the next four years.

TO the ordinary mind there seems no answer to these statements and no excuse for the immediate twenty-billion raise in the debt limit. Particularly is this so when it is considered that no hint of so gigantic a lifting of the lid was given during the campaign and that this announcement of the first "must" legislation following the election has started a wave of inflationary fear. That the immense appropriations for defense should be accompanied not only by increased taxes but retrenchment in every other possible direction is too clear to be argued. That is Senator Byrd's contention. Nothing else makes sense. Yet the mere fact that he suggests these things at once stiffens White House resistance to them.

THAT is unpleasant and deplorable but unquestionably true. If the past is the criterion, what will happen is that when Congress takes up this business Senator Byrd will make his fight to limit the debt raise to $5,000,000,000 and he will renew his proposal to cut other Government costs. The Administration forces, under White House direction, will line up against him and he will be defeated. But he will be right and he will keep on fighting. It is interesting to note that Senator Byrd and Mr. Morgenthau agree on one point—to wit, the elimination of the tax-exempt feature of Government, State and municipal securities. There would seem to be no real opposition to that now. All that is necessary is for the Administration to put its weight behind the plan to remove the exemptions, which in the past have enabled so many rich men to escape taxation. It is also interesting to recall that the first man to urge this exemption—fifteen years ago—was the late Mr. Andrew Mellon, one of the richest men in the world.

Will Have Roles In School Play

Title Role Of "Janey's One-Track Mind" To Be Played By Polly Butz

Elizabeth Montgomery — Polly Butz

The title role in the comedy to be produced at the senior high school this week has been assigned to Polly Butz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul F. Butz of Lincoln avenue. The title of this modern three-act comedy, "Janey's One-Track Mind", summarizes the plot. Polly Butz has the fun of presenting this serious comedy character, Janey, whose preoccupation with acquiring glamour in order to capture a wealthy and eligible husband, becomes a divertingly entertaining matter for her friends and relatives.

In this important role, Polly Butz is making her amateur stage debut. She is a well-known and active member of the June graduating class, with membership in the Girl Reserves, in the library club and in the recently organized etiquette club, to give spice to the ordinary routine of school life.

Elizabeth L. Montgomery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Montgomery of Richelieu avenue, is cast for the pleasant role of Muriel, kindly and helpful sister-in-law to the purposeful 'Janey with the one-track mind'. Elizabeth is another of the popular seniors in the cast. Her interests are so varied that she might easily be an authority on club-life in New Castle senior high school. She is a Girl Reserve, recently a member of its cabinet; a member of the Girls' Athletic club and a squad leader for the physical education department of the school. She participates in the activities of the French club, the Etiquette club and the Rifle club.

These two students, excellent representatives of live, modern youth, will help produce a play made up of youthful, but not entirely of adolescent characters, that is unusually well adapted to acting by high school devotees of the footlights.

This time he is staying at home until the doctor gives him the green light.

The bronze plate for placing upon the new Graceland bridge has arrived in the commissioner's office and will be attached to the end of the bridge. It is not large but attractive in design.

When the December grand jury meets, one of the matters that will be put before it will be the idea of a bridge across the Neshannock Creek at Mercer street. The city council will probably have all necessary legislation passed in time which ordains the street leading to to the bridge and exponents of the idea will present the matter to the grand jury.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

SHINGLES

There are some sicknesses that seem to arouse smiles among laymen when they are mentioned. Shingles, for example. The name makes it funny to many. But only to persons who have never had it, for it is an extremely painful complaint.

The ailment commonly called shingles is a complication of neuralgia of the chest. Neuralgia isn't common in childhood but it often affects them indirectly, for many varieties of it are more common in women than in men and mothers driven to distraction by the pain of facial neuralgia for instance have caused a home to be a very unhappy place for children. It is most apt to attack women in pregnancy or "change of life."

The complication called shingles isn't contagious, yet I have observed that when I have had a case of it to treat, there usually are three or four other cases in the community. The season and the weather are factors in producing it. However, I don't see as much of it as I used to. Possibly it is becoming rarer. But I may see fewer cases because I'm not in as active general practise as I was for many years. The needs of the Quintuplets keep me fairly busy, and I feel it wouldn't be in their best interest for me to be going in to see them every day after coming from sickrooms. However, I still look over older persons who have been my patients whenever sick for many years, and one of these came in the other day with as "pretty" a case of shingles as I have seen in a long time.

The disease known as "shingles" is a complication of neuralgia caused by an acute inflammation of the roots of the nerves leading either from the head or the spinal area. These inflamed nerves cause an eruption on the skin that looks like masses of small blisters or cold sores. They itch, they burn, they ache, they pain and you mustn't scratch them.

The commonest place for singles to occur is on the chest usually on one side. Cases of shingles on both sides are rare. So are deaths resulting from shingles. This is the basis of an old supersitution that if a victim gets shingles and the rash girdles the body, then death follows.

There's no truth to this superstition, and I have known old-timers who believed it to the extent they almost did die of fright.

Sometimes the shingles will spread down the body and when this happens, the patient usually stands to eat his meals. A tenderness remains long after the shingles disappear. One patient of mine had the shingles on his neck and on the back of his head. He says that when he gets a head rub at the barbership now, three years after the attack, that side of his head is still tender. That is because sometimes, after the inflammation is gone, the nerve doesn't return to normal.

In almost every case of shingles the victim is in a rundown condition. Her nerves have been jumpy for some time, and she has needed treatment. The attack of shingles may be nature's warning of something far more serious.

Andrews Schedules Industrial Talks

G.N.C.A. Executive Has Gone To Washington For More Conferences

Executive Vice President Arthur H. Andrews of the Greater New Castle Association has left for Washington for more conferences with government spokesman on matters relating to the local industrial situation.

He will be in the capital two days.

A week ago Robert T. Beal, representative of the National Defense Advisory Commission, concluded a survey of the district's unemployment and idle plants and returned to Washington to report his findings.

Andrews said he will see Beale while on his trip.

The defense commission sent Beal here to determine what plant capacity might be available for possible defense industry expansion in the district. The report may have considerable bearing upon the GNCA industrial development program.

(By EDWIN C. HILL)

Just at this critical moment, Britain probably could use Vladimir Jabotinsky's Zevai Lumi or "secret army" in Palestine. The fiery little zealot of the Jewish "activist" movement had rounded up about 100,000 fighting men. From 1935 on, quite accurately predicting the Armageddon to come, he had pleaded with the British government to allow the army to be openly mobilized and trained as the nucleus of a defending force in the Near East, supported and expanded by the numbers and resources of about 700,000 European Jews of the New Zionist organization.

The British not only refused cooperation but quickly squelched the project, fearing the hostility of neighboring Islam, hoping to the last to resolve their difficulties in some traditional equation of power politics. Until the day of his death in this country a few months ago, Mr. Jabotinsky kept on fighting to rally the Jews of the world under the flag of the blue and white shield of David. Until the Nazi grip tightened on the Balkans, he had five or six Danubian vessels running thousands of Jews into Palestine.

Many of the leaders of world Jewry, bitterly opposed Mr. Jabotinsky, and his dissident group, insisting that his project was chimerical and hopeless. These he answered by saying that a Nazi conquest of the world would mean the absolute extermination of Jewry; that vast cohesion and power could be mobilized against it by making Palestine the new focus of an ancient fighting faith. He died of a broken heart.

The whippy, little gray-haired, weather-beaten Jabotinsky will be put down in the post-mortem of Western civilization as one of its most fascinating personalities. Combining the talents of writing and fighting, he lived Bergson's precept, "to think like a man of action and act like a man of thought."

He was a native of Russia, a war correspondent in the Near East for a Russian newspaper from 1914 to 1917. Fighting with Allenby in Palestine, he kept on swinging after the bell rang, for which the British sentenced him to fifteen years in prison. This later was cut to three months, but his only son, Eri, is now confined in the same cell in the Acre Fortress, for the same excessive zeal.

He was the author of many successful plays, novels, short stories and was the translator of Dante into Hebrew, a fluent master of English, Russian, Polish, Italian, German, Hebrew and Spanish. He was born in Odessa, Russia, and educated at the University of Rome.

One of my friends gives me his observation of Jabotinsky when the bitter little free-lance fighter was here last Spring.

"It was at the house of John Gunther, the foreign correspondent, in Central Park West. A company of the town's authors and journalists, some of whom had known Mr. Jabotinsky in Europe, had been assembled. I don't know when I have felt a stronger impact of personality. His brief talk disclosed not only a profound, humane culture, but a keen, precise knowledge of world realities of today, at their worst.

"Behind his heavily rimmed spectacles, which gave him an owlish look, one caught in his brown eyes a look of tragic disillusionment, but every line of his face and every aspect of his slight figure spoke of cold resolution. At first it seemed to me that his talk of organized Jewish military force seemed fantastic. And then I thought of Jepthah. The Ammonite oppression must have been quite comparable to Nazi dominion of today. Jepthah wouldn't have been given much of a chance against the conquerors. But he routed them and freed his homeland.

"In those days the Jewish (O.K.) Jahveh was a God of wrath and of thunder and might. Against odds, the Jews overcame not only the Ammonites, but the Hittites, the Philistines and many other tribes. One remembered, too, that David also did well, without mechanized equipment.

"I thought of this game little Jabotinsky when I saw the play 'There Shall Be No Night.' Do you remember those noble lines of the doctor's when he spoke of that mysterious something in the human mind as possibly both the armor and the avenger against the barbarians?"

Hitler And Soviet Commissar Continue Conferences

Sessions Being Held In Secret

Believe Hitler Seeking Increased War Cooperation On Part Of Russia

RECEPTION IS HELD FOR VISITING GUEST

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Nov. 13—Chancellor Hitler entertained Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov at luncheon today as the Russian official pressed forward with negotiations aimed at a Berlin-Moscow agreement of worldwide importance.

Announcement that Hitler, Molotov and a small circle of high officials had lunched together was made after the Russian visitor called upon Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, chief of the German air force during the morning, and later was received by Deputy Nazi leader Rudolf Hess.

While details of the actual points under discussion were kept secret, all signs pointed to negotiations regarding increased Russo-German cooperation.

During last night's reception for Molotov at the Kaiserhof Hotel, it was announced, toasts were exchanged stressing friendly Russo-German relations.

This afternoon, it was learned Molotov's conversations with German foreign minister Jochim Von Ribbentrop will be resumed.

The Russian statesman will be Hitler's guest at dinner tonight.

High German quarters indicated that Germany and Italy have been given a "go ahead" signal for expanded war against Britain by Molotov's Berlin visit.

They also predicted a tangible agreement which would demonstrate to the United States and non-axis nations of Europe the "futility" of opposition to a "new world order" dominated to a Berlin-Rome-Tokyo-Moscow coalition.

Fraternities Hail 'Education Week' At Slippery Rock

Two educational fraternities, Kappa Delta Pi and Phi Sigma Pi, are sponsoring this week's observance of "American Education Week" on the Slippery Rock State Teachers' College campus.

"Education for the Common Defense" is the general theme of the week, while today's topic is "Developing Human Resources."

Elaborating upon the celebration, conducted nationally by the National Education Association in cooperation with the American Legion and other groups, a Slippery Rock student, John Reed, wrote in part:

"This national celebration of public education had its beginnings after the World War, which threw into sharp relief certain weaknesses in American life and education.

"The major purpose of Education Week is to keep public education and its meaning before the American people. With increasingly complex problems confronting the nation it is evident that our democracy cannot endure without universal education directed by the desire to achieve the greatest good for the greatest number."

News Briefs From City Hall

Dodge sedan, carrying Ohio license J8625, was reportedly stolen from Youngstown yesterday. Police here are searching for the car. According to reports stolen cars are being used to haul away stolen safes in western Pennsylvania.

Finance Director James L. Fink today stated that finance officers of the city will attend the annual conference of finance officials of Pennsylvania municipalities, November 22-23 at State College. City finance is the main topic at the conferences.

W.P.A. Prison Project Worker Is Jailed On Charge Of Smuggling

Admits That He Smuggled Articles Including Whiskey To Penitentiary Prisoners

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13.—Edward A. Loeb, a WPA prison project teacher, was held in jail today pending a hearing on his admission that he smuggled whiskey and other contraband to inmates of Western Penitentiary to obtain supplementary funds for his family's support.

Loeb, arrested by state police, taught grade and high school subjects to prisoners in the penitentiary. His WPA salary, he told authorities, was $87.50 a month, on which he had to keep a wife and one child.

Loeb, police said, first took a dollar watch into the prison at the request of another prison teacher. Later he took in a cigarette lighter and other harmless things, he said, until finally the prisoner with whom he had been dealing demanded whiskey. Loeb said he was afraid to refuse the request.

Over a period of five or six weeks, Loeb told authorities, he smuggled approximately 30 pints of whiskey, for which he paid 80 cents a pint and received $2.50, into the prison. The prisoner allegedly gave Loeb letters to smuggle outside, presumably for a relative who in turn sent money to Loeb authorities reported.

Guard Rails Are Almost In Place

Mt. Jackson Road Will Be Ready For Traffic Within Very Short Time

Nearly all of the guard rails along the sides of the newly paved Mt. Jackson road are now in place and the roadway will be ready for traffic within a very short time.

The guard rail fences have been holding up the official opening of the road for sometime. Because of the sharp curve and the steep hill it was not deemed wise to open the road until all of the rails were in place.

Motorists will find the section of highway that has been rebuilt a great improvement. The sharp curve at the foot of the Mt. Jackson hill, near the entrance to the New Castle Junction, has been made less severe and widened as has the entire distance of roadway from the city limits to the top of the hill.

Midland Plant May Be Shut Down

Two-Thirds Of 4500 Employes Of Crucible Steel Co. Out On Strike

(International News Service)

MIDLAND, Pa., Nov. 13.—The Crucible Steel Company of America plant was on the verge of a complete shutdown today with two-thirds of its 4500 employes out on strike or unable to work on a heavy schedule of American and British war equipment orders.

Only 1500 of the plant's workers were at their jobs this morning. A. L. Sonnhalper, general superintendent, declared.

The plant head said he was hopeful for a settlement with the CIO steel workers organizing committee today but that if it did not materialize plant operations would be "suspended completely" by nightfall. The plant makes steel for airplane parts and for guns and shells, machined at Crucible's New Jersey plant.

Idle as a result of a walkout in the heat treating department which spread to other mill units were the three finishing mills, two blast furnaces and the coke ovens at the plant, Sonnhalper told International News Service. But he added:

"I expect something to happen today."

Only open hearth and electric furnaces and the blooming mill were manned this morning, he said.

Union leaders denied a strike has been called. No pickets were on duty and no disorders had been reported.

The initial strike of 40 men resulted from a wage boost question in the SWOC contract with the company. Men in other departments followed suit, walking out mostly in sympathy, but nursing, according to local SWOC leaders, departmental grievances of their own.

Sonnhalper said he had not moved to contact union leaders but expected to hear from them today.

Will Address Executives Club

Noted Color Expert Will Have Interesting Address For Thursday Evening

DR. HERBERT T. STRONG

Members of the New Castle Executives Club and their wives have a real treat in store for them on Thursday evening, when Dr. Herbert Thompson Strong, of the New York Museum of Science and Industry, color consultant, will be the speaker at the dinner meeting in The Castleton.

Dr. Strong's theme will be "Exploring the Magic World of Color", and his address will be illustrated. He will display the wonderful colors that can be secured by projecting prismatic rays into a mammoth crystal of optical quartz, and the mysteries of polarized light, when it is projected through minute chemical crystals.

He will be assisted in his address by Miss Caroline Miller, who models costumes which Dr. Strong believes will be commonly worn by women at gay evening social gatherings of the future, under the rays of the new lighting equipment which is now being adapted for use in homes as well as stores and industry. In these lights, costumes which appear dull and gray under ordinary light show all of the colors of the rainbow.

Dr. Strong's address is the only one of its kind available in the country and the officers of the Executives Club feel fortunate in being able to secure Dr. Strong as one of their speakers this year.

McCormick Is Most Valuable

Frank McCormick, Reds First Baseman Voted By Writers As Most Valuable Man In League

JOHNNY MIZE IS RUNNERUP

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Frank McCormick, big first baseman of the world champion Cincinnati Reds, was the most valuable player in the National league this last season.

If you doubt it, you must quarrel with the committee of veterans of the Baseball Writers Association who today voted the annual award to the big fellow from Manhattan college. He thus takes his place with Hank Greenberg, Detroit outfielder, who won a similar award in the American league.

It is interesting to note that Frank was voted more valuable than Johnny Mize, slugging first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, although Johnny hit .310 to Frank's .309 and drove in 136 runs to Frank's 127.

Great Fielder

The writers apparently figured that Frank's superior fielding and greater speed on the bases more than offset the slight difference in their hitting.

In any event, Frank received 274 points in the voting to Johnny's 209. In third place came Bucky Walters with 146 points and Paul Derringer with 121 points was fourth. These two Concinnati right handers ran one-two last year.

It also is interesting to note that McCormick is the third Red to win the award in successive years, Ernie Lombardi and Walters having preceded him the last two years.

Fred Fitzsimmons, the old knuckle ball artist, who racked up 16 victories against two defeats for the Brooklyn Dodgers, drew fifth place with 84 points. And back of the old timer came another Dodger, Outfielder Dixie Walker, who came through with 71 points.

Higbe Will Seek Salary Of $15,000

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—Kirby Higbe, star twirler for whom Brooklyn paid the Phils $100,000 and three players, was quoted in Philadelphia Tuesday as saying he would demand an annual salary of $15,000 from the Dodgers.

Higbe and his wife spent last week in Philadelphia as guests of an investment broker. They were enroute by motor to their home in Columbia, S. C., when they heard of the trade.

Reject Tucker, As Opponent For Conn

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—The Illinois Athletic Commission today turned thumbs down on Mike Jacobs' proposal that light heavyweight king Billy Conn, who currently is campaigning as a heavyweight, make his Chicago debut next month against Tommy Tucker, Long Island, N. Y., heavyweight.

At a meeting of the commission, Joe Triner, chairman, said it was decided to reject Tucker as a foe for Conn in a Chicago batle. Triner said he would notify Jacobs to this effect. It was believed, however, that if the New York promoter can arrange a suitable foe for Conn, the commission would welcome the Pittsburgh flash to the Windy City.

So far no specific date has been set for the proposed Conn bout, but the Chicago stadium management has advised the commission that site would be available for the fight on Dec. 6, 13, or 20.

The Brooklyn Dodgers haven't won a football game from the Chicago Bears since they started relations in 1929.

SHORT SPORTS

Ray (Lil' Abner) Ebli, 200-pound junior from Ironwood, Mich., is getting the reputation of being Notre Dame's "clutch" player, after only two appearances. He didn't play in high school. He was on the B team last fall. Inserted into the lineup when Army had marched to a first down on the Irish 12 in the closing minutes, Ray tossed a power play for a yard loss by jamming up the blockers with an assist from Lou Rymkus. A week later against Navy he caught a pass for 17 yards and first down on the Middie's 3-yard line in the Irish victory rally in the closing minutes.

Bob (Pigeon) Dove, Notre Dame sophomore left end, scored the first touchdown of his life against Navy on a 32-yard pass from Left Halfback Saggau. Dove played end at South high school of Youngstown, O., but never got into the opposing end zone. For his pains, he later got a broken nose.

Since 1935 Baltimore City College has been tied four times in football but never beaten.

Sale Of Higbe Aids Phillies

Financial Situation In Philadelphia National Cash Register Is Rather Poor

NOT TRYING TO STAY IN CELLAR

By WATSON FENIMORE
International News Service Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The Philadelphia Phillies, whose player deals for years have been strengthening clubs all over the National League, except their own, got a $100,000 bonanza in the sale of Pitcher Kirby Higbe, but still are winding up 1940 in the red, Gerry Nugent, club president, said today.

A financial crisis brought about by player purchases and poor attendance last summer is the sole explanation, according to the Phil prexy, for sending Higbe to the Brooklyn Dodgers Monday for the afore-mentioned cash and three players.

In a way, the transaction is reminiscent of the Phils' sale of Bucky Walters to Cincinnati and the consequent blooming of the Reds' pitching staff several seasons ago. The Reds promptly won two straight pennants and the 1940 world series and—since Higbe miraculously won 14 games for the floundering Phillies last season—there is a suspicion Kirby's transfer might do the same for the Dodgers.

Needed Money

But in a voice patently hurt and somewhat angry, Nugent denied L'Affaire D'Higbe is just additional evidence of a dark plot to keep the Phillies in the cellar as a money-making farm club for the other National League teams. The Quakers have sold half a dozen stars in half a dozen years and haven't finished out of last place since 1937—when they went all the way up to seventh.

Nevertheless, they're still trying to repeat the 1915 win of their one and only flag, said Nugent.

"Do they think I sit here racking my brain, trying to get ball players in here just for their resale value?" asked Nugent, indignantly. "They're brought in here to put the best possible team on the field. No good ball player would leave this club if we could just break even, to say nothing of making a profit.

"It was either sell one of the stars," he said about Higbe, "or get out of business. As it is, the $100,000 won't bring us out ahead for the year. Our losses were more than twice that much. I've actually spent $100,000 since the 1939 season for players."

AUTHOR OBSERVES GRID DATE

Seven Regulars In Final Game

Eighteen Including Reserves Will End Grid Careers At Warren

New Castle High school "Red Hurricane" football team is hard at work at Taggart Stadium this week preparing for the final game at Warren, Ohio on this coming Saturday afternoon. New Castle with nine wins and a tie will try hard to remain undefeated for the season.

A long scrimmage was on the books for this afternoon, the last hard workout of the season. The team is in fine shape for the Warren game. There were no serious injuries in the game with Campbell. Jerry will again play quarter it was announced by Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh.

Seven In Final Game

When New Castle takes the field at Warren seven regulars will for the final time don the colors of New Castle High, they are—Al Bucci, Don Jerry, Ernie Adamo, Larry Roberts, Sammy Ciazza, Joe Audino and Warren Morgan. Freddy McKee is through also, but his leg injury will keep him out of the Warren game.

The following reserves will be playing in their final roles—Andy Piccutta, John Gennock, Otis Burris, A. Orlando, Ralph Tomalello, Ralph Pugh, Don Young, Frank Isaacs, Ben Izzo, Joe Izzo.

New Castle faces the 1941 season with but three of the starting varsity back—Robert Lee, Norm Scarazzo and Tommy Parou. Not a very elegant situation, but nevertheless a nucleus anyhow. The two junior highs, Washington and Franklin are reported to be sending up some fine looking material for the "Red Hurricanes".

I especially wish to mention the churches, which served lunches, Elks Lodge, V. F. W. Post and Auxiliary, Roumanian club, Merchants, Mervis Furniture Company, R. J. Schill, those who gave financial aid, school and boro officials and especially the New Castle News for splendid publicity.

Sincerely,

Mr. Young, state Y. M. C. A. worker, conducted the program and asked his listeners not always to think of impressive buildings when the Y. M. C. A. was mentioned but to recall the work that is being done in communities like Ellwood City through Hi-Y clubs, Phalanx and Gradale Sororities. T. H. Patterson told of the work that is being done in the Phalanx and Gradale groups and William Boyd, high school Hi-Y supervisor, outlined the school program.

He said that it cost $360 a year to keep a boy in a state reformatory and only $125 a year to keep a boy in high school. A plea that the groups organize to demand the building of better industrial and vocational school instead of spending so much money to build big, beautiful jails, was made.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

According to that popular fellow the weather man . . . cold weather is just around the corner . . . and that means trouble for some . . . we hope that each and every family in this community will be warm enough this winter and that food will be within their reach . . . a good many organizations throughout the county think about unfortunate people during the holiday seasons . . . Thanksgiving and Christmas . . . too many times folks are forgotten during the quiet times . . . if we are do a little helping here and there all during the year . . . things would look a lot better for a lot of people.

It seems that some news stories passed out by the radio were all wrong on the name of the towns that experienced explosions yesterday . . . Edenboro was given instead of Edenburg.

* * *

May we pass this along to you; "Men Like You"
Perhaps he sometimes slipped a bit
Well, so have you.
Perhaps some things he ought to quit
Well, so should you.
Perhaps he may have faltered . . . Why,
Why, all men do, and so have I,
You must admit, unless you lie
That so have you.

Perhaps if we would stop and think,
Both I and you,
When painting someone black as ink,
As some folks do;
Perhaps, if we would recollect,
Perfection we would not expect
But just a man halfway correct,
Just like me and you.

I'm just a man who's fairly good,
I'm just like you;
I've done some things I never should,
Perhaps like you.
But, Thank the Lord, I've sense to see
The rest of men with charity;
They're good enough if good as me
Say, men like you.

Stock Market Is Irregular

Selling Picks Up Following Tuesday's Irregular Decline

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The stock market fell 1 to 2 points today after some irregularity at the start, as selling picked up following Tuesday's irregular decline.

Steels, coppers, aviations and motors led the way downward. Some groups were independently firm for a time, including rails and several blue-chips, but virtually all sections gave way before noon.

Steels were under pressure from the start. U. S. Steel tumbled 2 points and Bethlehem about as much before meeting support. Others were down fractions to a point.

American Smelting fell 2 points and Kennecott almost as much in the copper section. Anaconda and International Nickel eased fractions.

Chrysler was down about 2 points and General Motors half as much. Douglas, United Aircraft and Lockheed all slipped a point or more in aviations.

Ducking the trend were Hiram Walker, up a point at one time, American Can, Eastman Kodak and Chesapeake & Ohio.

Missing and believed lost were three fishing boats—the Indian, with five men aboard, and the Richard H. When and Irene, each with three men. Wreckage from the Indian was swept ashore last night.

Three steamers, the Hanna, Wilbur E. Smith and the Bethlehem, were missing on Lake Superior and long overdue at Duluth.

Three freighters and a carferry were aground. These were the Freighters P. J. Peterson, Conneaut, and Frank Billings, and carferry 12, the City of Flint. The Peterson was held fast off Hog Island, 12 miles west of Charlevoix Mich. The 6000-ton Conneaut was aground in shallow water on Lansing Shoal in the Straits of Mackinac, and the Billings was held in shallow water at Seul Chiox, Mich. The City of Flint was aground at Ludington.

Although the worst of the lake gales, which reached their height Monday and Tuesday, had passed, the wind still whipped up to better than 70 miles per hour occasionally.

Not All On Great Lakes

But all the tragedy and suffering was not on the Great Lakes. The gales which roared down over the North Central States earlier in the week brought blinding snow and sleet storms with them, and left the most bitter cold of the season.

The death toll was heavy among duckhunters and others caught by the storm on lakes and streams in Iowa, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Ten persons have been found dead in Iowa. In Illinois, at least 11 persons were known to have died.

Minnesota's death toll stood at 13 today, and the partial death toll in other states, resulting from injuries suffered in the high winds or from exposure, was: Wisconsin, 7. Ohio 2. Michigan 5. Indiana 3. Montana 1. Nebraska 2.

Scores Missing

Scores still were missing and it was feared many of those unaccounted for are dead.

No estimate of the property damage was possible, but it may approach several millions of dollars. Parts of the south on the fringe of the gales and cold, suffered crop damages; in Montana, Nebraska and Iowa many flocks of turkeys being prepared for the Thanksgiving market were decimated.

Cities large and small in the midwest felt the heavy hand of the gales. In Chicago, where the cyclone ripped in at 68 miles per hour on Monday, damage was placed above the $1,000,000 mark.

Freezing temperatures persisted wherever the storm had struck. Low readings included 12 below zero at Williston N. D., 8 below at Havre, Mont., 3 above at Sioux City, Ia., 8 above at Chicago. In Canada, a low of 22 degrees below zero was reported at Medicine Hat, Alta., and 18 below at Edmonton.

Today the disturbance carried severe rainstorms to the New England coastal regions, and generally lower temperatures throughout the east.

Deluge Of "Tags" To Erring Autoists

One Hundred And Seventy-Five Pay Fines For Breaking Law

ERRING OFFER VARIED COMMENT

Apparently Patrolman Michael Fazzone is not missing many autoists who fail to deposit a nickel in parking meter slots for the privilege of parking one hour in business district streets, 175 motorists already having been fined $1.00 this month.

In addition, it was stated at the office of Mayor Charles B. Mayne today that police have been given 18 warrants to serve on autoists who failed to honor "tags." These motorists will be fined $1, plus $1.50 costs.

According to Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen, patrolmen on the different downtown "beats," while making their "rounds," place "tags" on cars which are parked too long or for which no fee for parking has been paid. In their wake travels Patrolman Fazzone.

Out-of-town motorists who receive "tags" make varied comments when they send in checks to cover fines. Some say they won't be here anymore, others thank the police for the time limit given in which to pay and others say they erred unknowingly.

One letter received from an out-of-town motorist today thanked the New Castle police. She said she wished to offer an apology for not sending in $1.00. She acknowledged she had hidden the parking "tag" several days because she did not want her husband to know she had received a "tag."

A local man today sent a dollar to Chief McMullen stating that his wife had used the car to ride to the business district then forgot she had taken the auto and rode home on a street car.

Traffic court is held at 9 a. m. each morning where persons who have received "tags" may appear before Mayor Mayne and offer reasons why they believe they should be exempt from paying a fine. Telephonic communications to police headquarters do not bring exonerations.

Huge Traffic Over New State Super-Highway

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 13.—A total of 264,480 motor vehicles traveled the Pennsylvania turnpike during the first 31 days of its operation paying $233,829.02 in tolls, it was revealed today.

Of the vehicles traveling the 160-mile dream highway, 248,412 were passenger automobiles," exceeding engineer's estimates by 160,000.

SHIP SALE HINTS NAZIS DUBIOUS OF WAR'S OUTCOME

(International News Service)

BUENOS AIRES.—That German shipping companies are not so sure who is going to win the war became evident recently when the North German Lloyd sold three ships—the Lahn, Nienburg and Anatolia—to an Argentine company.

These vessels entered the River Plate when the British blockade started in September, 1939. They have been tied up in the Port of Buenos Aires, with skeleton crews aboard, since that time. Negotiations for the sale opened a month ago and were completed last week.

The S. S. Anatolia is a vessel of 3,382 gross tons; the S. S. Nienburg, 4,154 gross tons, and the Lahn 8,498 gross tons. The purchase price is reported to be around seven and a half million Argentine pesos. In accordance with International Law, the ships will not be allowed to operate under the Argentine flag until after the war.

Ingathering For Needlework Guild

Once again The Castleton ballroom is piled high with garments. Shirts and dresses, sweaters and underwear, gloves and stockings and everything else needed to withstand the blasts of winter. The annual ingathering of the New Castle chapter of the Needlework Guild, Inc., is on today and all morning long members of the guild kept arriving with their contributions.

The guild hopes to exceed last year's contributions when over 3000 new garments were contributed and in turn were distributed to organizations dealing with needy people.

More contributions are expected this afternoon and by this evening the list will be complete. The ingathering will be open for public inspection until 9 o'clock tonight. On Thursday morning the garments will be boxed up and distributed to the agencies which are to receive them.

The Needlework Guild is composed of women of New Castle who work quietly through the year preparing for the annual ingathering. With little publicity they do their work through the months and in the late fall needy boys and girls and adults receive the benefit of that work.

Some money is contributed along with the garments and of the money contributed about 99½ cents out of every dollar goes directly to the needy. Overhead expense is so small as to be almost non-existent.

The ingathering in The Castleton deserves a visit from the public. All the garments are new and all of them are useful This is the day in the year that the women of the guild harvest their "crop" and their crop is one that provides warmth and comfort to those who need it.

The poor deluded people always welcome disaster. Remember how they loved and cheered the stock market just before it ruined them?
